Patriots honor scholarship winners at Gillette Stadium

The Kraft family and the New England Patriots celebrated the first recipients of the Partners in Patriotism Scholarship program with a reception during the Patriots preseason opener on Aug. 9 at Gillette Stadium.

Scholarship recipients Holly O'Toole, Joshua Jacobson and Anir Gubbala and their families attended the reception, where they watched the Patriots take on the Washington Redskins from a Gillette Stadium suite.

The reception included game tickets, parking, complimentary food and beverage service and a pregame field visit to watch team warmups from the sidelines.

While on the sidelines, the group was surprised by a visit with Patriots Chairman and CEO Robert Kraft, who spoke with each student before taking photos with them and their families.

"It was a real pleasure meeting Holly, Joshua and Anir and chatting with them about their dreams and goals after high school," said Kraft. "Each of these scholarship recipients stood out to us because of their dedication to helping their community, appreciation of others, hard work and their respective goals for the future. I have no doubt they will each go on to accomplish great things and make Foxborough proud. I wish them each the very best of luck."

Gubbala, who plans to pursue a degree in civil engineering at the University of Rhode Island, said receiving a PIP Scholarship from the Kraft family is something he will treasure.

"This scholarship means so much to me in so many ways," Gubbala said. "Getting the chance to meet Mr. Kraft and attend a Patriots game as his guest was an amazing honor and I am truly grateful."

O'Toole, who is planning to pursue a career in nursing at the University of New Hampshire, said: "Receiving this scholarship means the world to me. It makes me proud to know that I am being awarded for the work I put in around the community throughout my high school career. This award also means a lot to my family due to the fact that it will help enormously with college expenses. I am honored to have 2018 Gillette Stadium concerts and external events like Supercross, Monster Jam and the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championships have brought more than $1.5 million in revenue to the Town through the Payment In Lieu of Taxes (PILOT) agreement in place between Foxborough and the Kraft Group.

TOWN NETS $1.5M FROM GILLETTE STADIUM EVENTS

Through the first three business quarters of 2018, the Town has received more than $1.5 million in ticket revenue collected from Gillette Stadium's external events through the Payment In Lieu of Taxes (PILOT) agreement between Foxborough and the Kraft Group.

The PILOT is paid revenue the Town receives for leasing the land Gillette Stadium occupies to the Kraft Group and is based on each ticket issued for all stadium events. For external events like concerts, Monster Jam, Supercross and the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championships, the Town receives $2.75 per ticket sold.

For Patriots football and Revolution soccer games, the Town receives $1.58 per ticket sold. Through 13 external events thus far in 2018, the Town has received more than $1.5 million.

Gillette Stadium's 2018 Summer Concert Series, which featured eight shows from global superstars Taylor Swift, JAY-Z and Beyonce, Kenny Chesney and Ed Sheeran, earned the Town $1.2 million in PILOT revenue.

Events like AMA Supercross, the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championships, and Monster Jam earned the Town nearly $389,000 in PILOT revenue.

In context, the $1.5 million PILOT revenue generated thus far in 2018 could fund any of the following in Foxborough, according to the 2017 Annual Town Report:

- The top nine wages on the Town's payroll
- All FY17 salaries and expenses for Town Administration, Selectmen, Advisory Committee, Legal, Town Clerk, Conservation Committee, Planning Board, Appeals Board, Joint Public Safety Building, Inspection and Animal Control
- All of the Town's FY17 funding for Foxborough Public School's capital improvements
- All of the Town's FY17 funding for the following capital improvement budgets: Finance / Information Systems, Police, Fire and Inspection
- All of the Town's FY17 sewer enterprise fund appropriations
- 63 percent of the Town's FY17 funding for public works

Over the course of eight shows, Gillette Stadium hosted five of the biggest acts in music during the venue's 2018 concert series.

- 47 percent of the Town's FY17 total debt service

The Town will earn additional PILOT revenue in Q4 from a pair of external events: a UMass vs. BYU college football game (Nov. 10) and eight MIAA high school football state championship games (Nov. 30 and Dec. 1).

The Patriots (10 games, not including playoff games) and the Revolution (17 matches, not including playoff matches) will provide the Town with additional PILOT revenues at the conclusion of their respective seasons.

The PILOT revenues are for the stadium land lease only. These revenue figures do not include property taxes from the Patriot Place complex and Kraft Group-owned parking lot areas, or the numerous tourism tax revenues the stadium and Patriot Place generate for the Town throughout the year like meals and hotel occupancy taxes.

Jacobson, who is planning to pursue a degree in human capital management and leadership as well as social entrepreneurship at Miami University of Ohio, said: "Receiving this scholarship from the Kraft family allows me to take the steps closer to achieving my dreams and succeeding in life, school, and my community. The contributions of Mr. Kraft and his family have inspired me to support what I believe is essential to local, national and global needs."

While scholarship recipients Caroline Boudreau and Catherine Luciano were unable to attend the Aug. 9 reception, each expressed gratitude for being one of five Foxborough students out of a field of 47 applicants to be chosen for the award.

"My family and I are beyond grateful for receiving this scholarship from the Kraft family," said Boudreau, who plans to study business with a concentration in marketing at Bentley University. "I am honored to be chosen as a recipient based on the community service I have done around Foxborough, and to be recognized by an important family and foundation who continuously supports our community."

Luciano, who plans to pursue a degree in accounting at The College of The Holy Cross, said: "It is an honor to receive this scholarship from the Kraft family and the Partners in Patriotism. The recipients of this scholarship embody the 'Patriot Way,' in which we showcase hard work, integrity and mental toughness in our everyday lives. I, along with my classmates, serve as role models to the younger members of our community. Therefore, I will spread the positive message that comes with being an active citizen in Foxborough. I am extremely grateful to be a recipient of this award and the scholarship will assist in funding my college education."

The Kraft family announced the Partners in Patriotism Scholarship program earlier this year for Foxborough residents who are graduating high school seniors. The program awarded $5,000 scholarships to Boudreau, Gubbala, Jacobson, Luciano and O'Toole for their dedication to community service and embodiment of the core principles and values of the Kraft Group: Good character, high integrity, respect to others, a willingness to take ownership and be active in your community.

FACES OF FOXBOROUGH CORY LESLIE

This past September, Cory Leslie moved to Foxborough because he liked the short commute to Gillette Stadium and wanted to move away from Boston.

"I like Foxborough because it is a small, quiet town that reminds me a lot of my hometown in Maine," Cory said.

Cory grew up Raymond, Maine, which is about 30 minutes outside of Portland. He attended Endicott College in Beverly, Mass. and graduated in 2013 with a BA in sport management. He joined the Kraft Sports Group in June 2015; working in Gillette Stadium's Ticket Office and is currently a VIP Services Coordinator for Kraft Sports + Entertainment.

"I work with our premium seating members, including club and suite holders, to ensure all of our guests have a world-class experience every time they visit Gillette Stadium," Cory said.

Cory, who has extensive background working in sports, including experience with the Boston Red Sox, Major League Baseball and the TD Garden, says the best part about his job is the people he works with.

"My department works with a lot of other groups and it's always a pleasure to get to work with so many passionate, energetic and fun colleagues," said Cory.

When Cory isn't working, he enjoys being active, playing sports and visiting Maine.

AT PATRIOT PLACE

CBS Sporting Club celebrates grand opening

The Kraft Group, CBS, Big Night Entertainment Group (BNEG) and Foxborough officials celebrated the grand opening of CBS Sporting Club with a ribbon cutting ceremony on July 16.

CBS Sporting Club debuted following a significant renovation to the former CBS Scene space after 10 successful years at Patriot Place.

A gastro sports pub at its core, CBS Sporting Club boasts an elevated culinary program, audio and visual upgrades and award-winning hospitality.

"Ed Kane and his team at BNEG have done an excellent job in taking the CBS sports and entertainment concept at Patriot Place to the next level in hospitality," said Patriot Place General Manager and Vice President Brian Earley. "We believe the many improvements made to the restaurant's design, menu and technology will make CBS Sporting Club the region's premier sports and entertainment viewing destination.

The fully renovated 6,000 square-foot space offers a new aesthetic and modern design complete with cutting-edge technology throughout. The location features unparalleled view of the excitement at Gillette Stadium with updates including 290 seats with stadium-style seating, an expansive indoor bar and updated outdoor patio and bar.

CBS Sporting Club is co-owned by the Kraft Group and CBS, and managed by BNEG, which also owns and operates Scorpion Bar at Patriot Place.

BATTLE ROAD BREWING COMPANY ON TAP

Battle Road Brewing Company, which opened a 15-barrel brewery in Maynard in 2017, is coming to Patriot Place.

The brewing company will host a series of "Hop Up" tasting events beginning in October before starting construction on a permanent brew house at Patriot Place in early 2019. The company's "Hop Up" events and brew house will be located next to Olympia Sports in Patriot Place's North Marketplace.

"We have wanted to bring a brewery taproom concept to Patriot Place for quite some time and believe we have found everything we have been looking for in Battle Road Brewing Company," said Patriot Place General Manager and Vice President Brian Earley. "We love Battle Road's taproom model, their beer and their fun atmosphere."

The "Hop Up" events will feature many of the style Battle Road

Brewing currently offers at its brew house restaurant in Maynard as well as specialty styles brewed exclusively for Patriot Place.

In keeping with the rapidly growing taproom trend of "bring your own food," the "Hop Up" events will welcome guests who order food from many of the Patriot Place restaurants and have it delivered or carried into the taproom. Guests may also choose to bring their own food from home.

"We had been looking for communities where a taproom concept would not only work, but a community that we feel would embrace it. We are excited about the opportunity here in Foxborough and think it's a great community," said longtime WAAF morning show host, Greg Hill, who is the managing partner of the group behind Battle Road. "We hope to begin the licensing and permitting process shortly, and to start construction on a permanent brewery and taproom at Patriot Place thereafter. In the meantime, we wanted to open our 'Hop Up' tap concept and introduce the area to Battle Road."

Hill said the concept is different from a typical bar mainly because of the clientele.

"People who come to breweries are really fans of craft beer and fans of the tasting experience," said Hill. "It's not an environment where people over-consume alcohol."

In August, the Town granted Battle Road 30, one-day alcohol licenses to host the series of "Hop Up" events. Battle Road and Patriot Place will provide a comprehensive presentation for a permanent brewery and taproom to the Town's Board of Selectmen at a later date.

"We consider it to be our responsibility to be part of the fabric of the community and that means supporting the community," Hill said. "If all goes well and we are licensed for a brewery in Foxborough, we would welcome the opportunity to host fundraisers and community events at Battle Road."

Indoor skydiving facility to open

Freedom Wind Tunnel, an indoor skydiving facility, is coming to Patriot Place.

The 5,032-square-foot facility will be located next to Showcase Cinema de Lux. The three-story facility will feature a 16-foot wind tunnel and simulations that give guests the illusion that they are skydiving in a number of famous locations.

Guests will be able to book their skydiving flights online ahead of time with walk-in slots also available. Freedom Wind Tunnel will also have dedicated space on the second floor to host birthday parties or corporate events.

Construction is expected to begin in spring 2019 and likely take 12-14 months to complete.

Whimsical tearoom coming soon

Alice, the whimsical tearoom and shop inspired by the classic Lewis Carroll tale, "Alice in Wonderland," is coming to Patriot Place.

Guests will be able to enjoy a traditional British Afternoon Tea or High Tea in Alice's Queen of Hearts tea room. The tea service comes on a tiered stand that is filled with treats.

The store will offer more than 80 different kinds of teas, treats and British delights like cake bites and macarons.

Kenny Chesney shows appreciation for Foxborough

Over the course of 19 shows and 1 million-plus fans at Gillette Stadium since 2005, country music star Kenny Chesney has developed a deep connection to the region, specifically Foxborough.

"The people of New England, and especially Foxborough, have been so good to us for so long," Chesney said. "Gillette Stadium and Foxborough holds so many special memories. ... The Integration Initiative provides kids, teens and young adults with special needs and their families a chance to interact and build relationships with their typically-developed peers through comprehensive and unique programs.

"We love this event and look forward to it every year," Mackenzie said. "We take a lot of pride living in Foxborough and being home of the Patriots, so when we are invited by the Patriots to watch the team practice from inside Gillette Stadium, it's really special. We love it."

Patriots newcomer Danny Shelton and team captain David Andrews shared Mackenzie's enthusiasm for the event, noting the atmosphere brings a new level of excitement to practice.

Resident wins VIP experience to Patriots Training Camp

Foxborough resident Jackie McCann, 23, has been a Patriots fan for as long as she can remember, so when she read in the Partners in Patriotism newsletter that the team was offering one lucky resident the chance to win a VIP experience to training camp, she wasted little time entering the contest.

"I enjoy watching the Patriots more than anything, so for the Kraft Group to provide this opportunity to Foxborough residents each summer is wonderful and something I wanted to win very badly," said McCann.

When McCann was notified she had won, she could not contain her excitement.

"I basically cried," McCann said. "I was at work when I found out and many of my co-workers saw me freak out with excitement."

The prize included four VIP passes to the Patriots' Aug. 4 training camp practice for McCann and three of her guests. McCann invited her father, John, her father's friend, Bill Clark, and her sister, Courtney, who happened to be celebrating her 21st birthday.

"What better way to kick off her 21st birthday weekend than at Patriots Training Camp?" Jackie said. "Patriots games are always a family event, so I definitely wanted my family to be here with me. Bill Clark is someone who watches the games with us and I consider him my second dad."

Jackie and her family watched practice from the team's VIP Tent and received swag bags from the Kraft family that included t-shirts, hats, magazines and other Patriots goodies. At the end of practice, Patriots stars Devin McCourty and Julian Edelman visited Jackie and her guests, taking photos and signing autographs for the group.

"My sister and I loved seeing the players and getting their autographs. It was wonderful to be able to share this experience with Courtney on her birthday because it was great way to do something we both love and to be able to spend time together," said Jackie.

In what has become an annual end-of-summer tradition, the Kraft Group helped Foxborough Public Schools kick off a new school year this past August by hosting administration and teachers at Gillette Stadium.

During the retreat, the FPS administrative team members planned school initiatives and improvements for the upcoming year.

Then, on Aug. 21, the Kraft Group helped Foxborough welcome 15 new teachers to Town by taking the group on a private tour of the stadium. The tour has become the last stop on the annual New Teacher Orientation that is led each year by the Foxborough Superintendent's Office and administrators.

Several of Foxborough's new teachers pose for a photo from inside a Gillette Stadium suite during an Aug. 21 tour of the venue.

The teachers toured the stadium field, which had been transformed into a concert stage and flooring for Kenny Chesney's Trip Around the Sun Tour, the Patriots' media workroom, which hosts weekly team press conferences, including head coach Bill Belichick and quarterback Tom Brady, the press boxes and a Gillette Stadium suite.
